TUESDAY, APRIL 23, 1878.

THE Buckhannon, Upshur | county, Banner says that "pitching horse-shoes at a peg" seems to be the pastime with a great many of the business men there.

THE Pope has sent a request to the Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Germany for information in reply to the following questions: "What is the condition of your diocese? What events have been brought about there since 1872? Why have some Bishops not been disturbed? How are the politico-religious laws applied and administered? What methods are there of eluding the penalties they

Now-A DAYS when a New York report er rings the door bell of a prominent clergyman he is liable to be choked by the reverend gentlemen, and hurled down the steps with a vehemence which carries him half-way across the street, and then he hears the clergyman say, "Nothing whatever to say about it, nothing, nothing." Then the door slame with a wick-ed slam that is heard four blocks away, and the minister, kicking the cat out of his way, tramps back to his study.

The Slaughter of Property.

The Parkersburg Sentinel in comme ting on the sale of the Hardman furnace property at Giadesville, Preston county, for $4,000, makes the following observa-

In 1870 Mr. Hardman completed his In 1870 Mr. Hardman completed in works, and his property there then, consisted of the Gladesville Furnace, 550 acres of land on which were two good farms, and an nexhaustible quantity of fron ore and Coal. There was also about forty tenement houses, one large dwelling, store rooms, barns, etc., and a railroad about six miles in length. This whole property, with a good title, was sold on March 25th to Eugene List, of Wheeling, for the insignificant sum of four thousand dollars.

The property is worth, at a low estimate, one hundred thousand dollars.

This instance is only one in hundreds that can be seen every day of the ruin to which the country is rapidly coming. If John Sherman is permitted to maintain the suicidal policy that he is now working at, he will, by the time his term of office expires, have completely ruined this country.

The facts about Mr. Hardman's proper than the subject to the subject to the country is rapidly on the country of the coun worked was not a rich one-was there fore expensive to work-and the product of the furnace was not an iron that could be sold in large quantities in this or any ther convenient market, except at a sac rifice. Nothing but the extraordinary price of iron in 1872 '73 gave Hardman's furnace even a temporary success. But for the great rise of those years it would never have acquired its fictitious value. It had no advantages of location. The Baltimore & Ohio road was its only outlet to market. Its iron was cold short. It made money only on the rise and commenced losing early in the fall of prices Now what had John Sherman to do with the failure of such a concern? Suppose Mr. Hardman had spent twice as much money as he did at Gladesville, by building a big hotel, a fine church, an academy, and two or three manufacturing concerns. His failure would, of course, have been much bigger and more capable of indefinite enlargement. The Secretary can be made, in the hands of a in a Fast-Day sermon made some preity severe reference to the decay of Congressional morals as shown by the passage of the Silver bill and the thirst for patronage. She defends the Silver bill, rejects the notion of Congressional decay, and West Virginia Crops.

Here is what we read in all our ex changes these days—those near by and those far off. It is from the Clarksburg

The farmers in this county tell us the The farmers in this county tell us the prospects for a fine wheatcrop were never better. The same is true of counties adjoining us. Farmers look for abundant crops of all kinds this year. The grass is unusually forward and already the cattle of this county feed upon its thousand hills. Nature seems to be doing more to make good times than all the financiers in the world can do. And here is another clip of the same kind—from the Fairmont Verginian:

The wheat crop in this county is looking unnaually well, and the farmers are jubilant over the prospects of an abundant harvest. The acreage sown last year was greater than for many seasons before, and a large yield of wheat will do more to relieve the stringency of the times than the passage of a dozen silver bills.

THE Times tells the Globe Democrat that "The spirit of admiration or the patriotism and heroism of the men who died to save the Union" is not dead in the DemoOUR MOUNDSVILLE LETTER.

great cause to rejoice, as it will be of almost inaclouable benefit to both.

Labor on the proposed water works to supply the State prison with water is now being pushed rapidly forward. An engine house is being built near the roling mill, from which the water will'be conveyed in pipes from the river. This it is expected will have the capacity, not only of supplying the prison, but also other parts of the city.

Tramps are numerous with us now and scarcely a day passes but families living on the public highways in the suburbe of our town have the privilege of bestowing alms on these pestiferous individuals. Some of them are mere boys, and all are anxious to find work, but are willing to devour all that charity bestows on them in the way of eatables, paying well for it, if profuse thanks can be considered pay.

The facis about Mr. Hardman's property are not properly set forth in the above comments of the Sentinel. He built his furnace and his houses in very high priced times. They were built with borrowel money, and everything cost twice and sometimes thrice what it would cost now. The vein of ore worked was not a rich one—was thereworked was not a rich one—was there.

GRESBRIEG CO., W. VA., April 19.

Elitors Istalliguecer.

The Cleveland Heraid's new platform, published in your issue of the 11th, meets with my hearty approval.

It has the right ring, and is just the thing for our party at this time. It does not appeal to sectional prejudice or old party strife; but takes hold of living issues—important questions which are pressing upon the public mind.

With such a platform the Republican party would go into the fall campaign based on living principles; with renewed vigor and prospects of success.

The times demand a live platform. The Heraid's platform should be promptly indorsed by the Republican press throughout the country. Respectfally, &c.,

Boney by the Brishel.

Baltimore, April 20.—On the Union-town express on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which left Pittsburgh Thursday morning, were two men who had a large quantity of counterfeit half dollars with them. Two of the spurious coins were found on the newsboy on the train. The men apparently became frightened then, and when near Coultersville threw nearly a bushel of the money off the train Laborers on their way to work came across the heap, emptied their dinner buckets and filled them up with what they apposed was good money. The counterfeiters escaped. Money by the Bushel.

JOHN NORTON'S WAY OF PRAYING.-MOUNDEVILLY, April 23.

Editors Intelligences:

It was my privilege yesterday to attend services at the Gravel Street Church, about two miles below Benwood. The sermon was a funeral discourse on the death of an infant child of Taylor Keller.

Alarge concourse of people first gathered at the dwelling of the parents of the decocased child, where the introductory services were held. The corpse was then taken to the church, the cottin being carried by four little girls. The discourse was short and pointed, from the text, "is the child dead? And they said he is dead," and was delivered by Rev. Woods, pastor of the church. The corpse was then borne to the churchyard at the Old Brick Church, where at the grave the ceremonies were briefly closed by the pastor.

That beautiful valley is already carpeted with a luxuriance of vegetation. Wheat is more I than a foot high, while the gardens are giving a promise of an abundance of vegetables for early market. The roads are still rough and we are forced to the conclusion that just now that long talked of unrphike would do more to enrich the whole valley from here to Wheeling than anything else can do. Why it is that we taken the west of the county roads and is thereby increasing her wealth. Wheeling than anything else can do. Why it is that we taken the wealth of the county is yearly improving her country roads and is thereby increasing her wealth. Wheeling than anything else can do. Why it is that we taken the wealth of the county like ours to spend at least a first houng like ours to spend at least a few thousand dollars each year in the same direction. Railroads are all right in the place, but they cannot thread all our valley, and so good graded roads must be made in order that the wealth of our rich hills and valleys may reach the market. Then we say emphatically build the turspike from Moundsville to Wheeling, and both places will be of almost matelulable benefit to both.
